

ITIS 5166

Network-Based Application Development

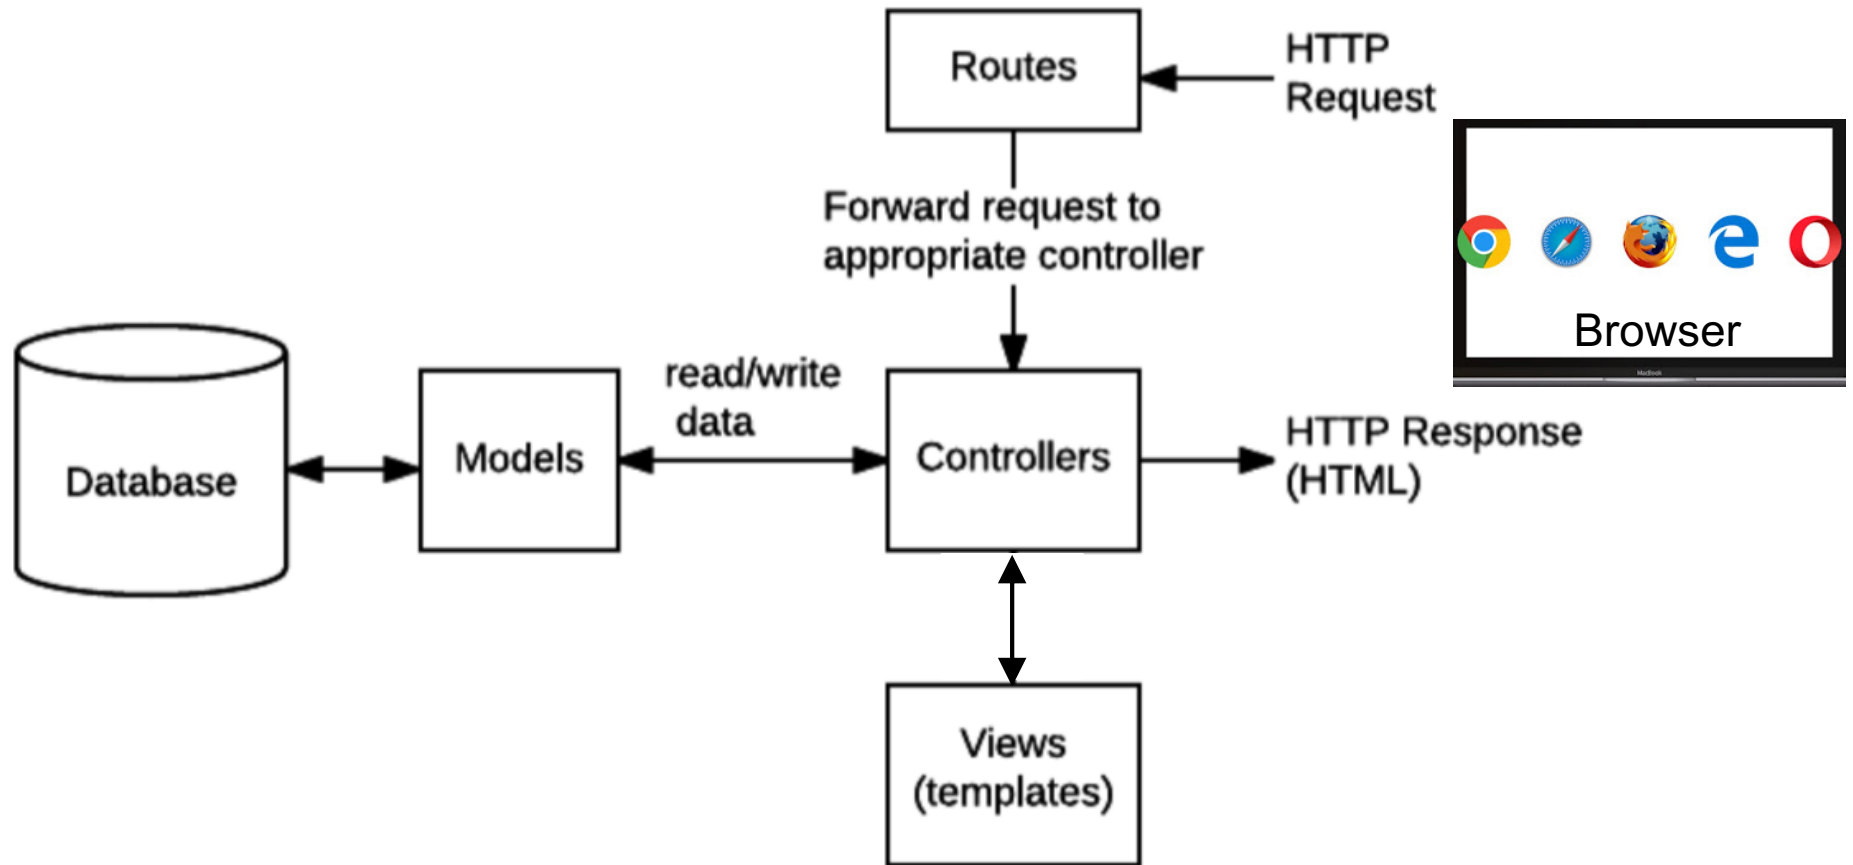

MVC and Express Web App

Model View Controller

- MVC is an architectural design pattern that is commonly used to structure web applications
- MVC makes it easy to structure and organize components in a web app
- MVC separates the functionality/components of a web app into three interconnected parts

Express MVC App Architecture

Build a story sharing web app

Demo: App Initialization